

Bruno Weishaupt Appointed Purchasing Director at Servair

Paris, 16 October 2014 – Servair, first in France and 3rd worldwide in airline catering, has announced the appointment of Bruno Weishaupt to the position of Purchasing Director.

A graduate of the ESTP engineering school and IAE Paris post-graduate business school, 55-year old Bruno Weishaupt began his career at UTA Airlines in 1986. He contributed to restructuring Flight Operations when UTA merged with Air France in 1991 and held various positions in that business unit before becoming head of the Operational Effectiveness department in 2000.

When Air France reorganized in 2013, his responsibilities were increased to encompass the operational effectiveness of 3 additional departments, including pilots and cabin crew.

Within the Servair organizational structure, the Purchasing Director reports directly to the Chief Operating Officer.

SERVAIR is the leading French and African operator in the airline catering and cleaning business. Ranked third on a worldwide basis, with its partners and subsidiaries, SERVAIR offers airlines a range of services essential to air transport and passenger comfort at approximately 40 airports around the world. Its requirements in terms of quality and know-how have made Servair a real driving force for its 120 client companies, whose commercial offer to passengers it helps improve, whilst ensuring strict compliance with the requirements of transport protocol.
